This memorial website was created to remember the most wonderful man in the world, Jason Madison Murray, who moved to heaven on January 31, 2007 at the age of 32 as the result of a horrible car accident. Jason is a paramedic in the ER department at PBRMC and was going to graduate from nursing school this spring. I'm so very proud of him for working so hard for his family. Jason's parents are John & Donna Murray. He is a devoted brother to Jeannie & John Brian. Jason is the father of 4 wonderful children. Kyle, Marissa, Miranda, & Tyler. Jason Murray is my world & I love & miss him more than words could ever express. God is surely readying his army to come take us all home!!!!

Jason's Devoted Wife, Rose

JASON IS A WONDERFUL, DEVOTED HUSBAND, FATHER, SON, BROTHER, & FRIEND. HE WILL NEVER BE FORGOTTEN!!

CAMPING LAST SUMMER (2006)

AT GOOSENECK!!!

WE HAD SUCH A GREAT TIME!!!!

From Miranda-Flo

This Memorial was written by a very sweet, close friend of Jason's.

Debbie Lyscas      Jason will always be our HERO!!!!

In Memory of Our Classmate

Jason M. Murray R.N.

When you think of all the heroes in the world, you think about the soldiers, and the firefighters and the people that put their life on the line everyday. We think about the hero that has wings. Our classmate has been a hero to many people and affected many people's lives. The funny thing is he probably never thought about it once. On the ambulance he helped many people and saved the lives of many. He was their hero. Then at the hospital while doing a job he loved, he saved many people as well, we are sure he was a hero then too. An at home when he fixed a broken toy or he bandaged a cut, he definitely was a hero then. We were blessed to have a friend that would give without question. This hero gave so much to what he believed in and loved....and that was his family and his education. He strived to do better and he was successful at it. Jason definitely achieved the respect from the nursing faculty, and they recognized his accomplishments and achievements of becoming a devoted nurse. And among other things he was always grateful for everything, just like it was a gift. Well we have lost our hero and will miss him dearly, but God must have needed a great nurse up in Heaven, and the one he took was very special to us all. We have heard more than once that nurses are angels with wings; and now there is one more angel in Heaven. They give us a lamp in Nursing School that is supposed to burn a light so we never lose our way, and to symbolize care and devotion. Jason was definitely devoted to nursing, and we don't think he will ever lose his way, because not only does he have his lamp to guide him, he has the other angels and God by his side. So, here is to one of the most dedicated nurses that we will ever have had the privilege to call our friend..... Forever in our hearts and never forgotten.

His memory will never grow old

He fashioned his smile out of sunshine

He needed a new star in Heaven

A beautiful light to shine

So out of this world of sorrow

He chose that dear son of mine

"Consider"

In the bottom of an old pond lived some grubs who could not understand why none of their group ever came back after crawling up the stems of the lilies to the top of the water. They promised each other that the next one who was called to make the upward climb would return and tell what happened to her. Soon one of them felt an urgent impulse to seek the surface; she rested herself on top of a lily pad and went through a glorious transformation which made her a dragonfly with beautiful wings. In vain she tried to keep her promise. Flying back and forth over the pond, she peered down at her friends below. Then she realized that even if they could see her, they would not recognize such a radiant creature as one of their number. The fact that we cannot see our friends or communicate with them after the transformation which we call death, is no proof that they cease to exist.

The background is a textured, mottled olive-green color. In the upper center, there are two roses, one slightly to the left and one slightly to the right, both rendered in a light, almost white, tone that blends with the background. The roses are in various stages of bloom, with some petals clearly defined.

Dream On

There is not a day passes that I don't think about how Jason and I would handle a call. Every emergency call I go on, he is with me. His caring for patients was second to none. I looked up to him when we were partners and I still to do to this day. Jason is an inspiration to all!!!!!!!!!!

Someone keeps leaving not nice condolences without leaving a name. I'm tired of it. On Memory-of you have to leave an email. That's all. I don't care who has access, I'm just not going to worry all the time about if there is something ugly on here, without knowing who from. I don't think there is any controversy nor do I want any. We are just trying to get through each day. I'm going to try not to look at any sites for the next couple of days. I feel that God is leading me to look in another direction to grieve. I'm definately not being the person God wants me to be or the person my children need me to be. I'm too worried about web sites. Life's too short. I'm very appreciative of the good memories, candles, and condolences, but I just don't have the energy to deal with the bad. Didn't mean to offend anyone, sorry if I did.

I just can't get your family off of my mind,

Please know that you all are in my prayers.

Tracy

Im just wondering

what kind of better

May 7, 2007

Im just wondering what kind of better you are looking for? That more people will have access? Controversy. You talk like there's a lot of controversy on the site.

Jason please be with Ty!!

April 22, 2007

Jason please look down on Ty while his poor little leg heals! Man do we need you here when things like this happen! Show him your still there cause i know he wants his daddy! Sometimes i wonder just how much God could possible put on ones plate to handle, i know it isn't our place to question him cause there is a reason for everything but at times its aggrevating to not know that reason! Jason the kids sure do miss you and i know Rose needs you, she has never had to deal with this stuff by herself! I couldn't imagine having to go through what she has to! Having to listen to your babies cry for their daddy and having to go on with a future without your husband, your soulmate, whom you planned your whole future with! We are all very blessed to have what we have, i wish someday that we could all be happy again! You are missed so much more than words could ever express! You are a wonderful faithful husband and father to Rose and the kids! I treasure the closeness that we have and i am so glad that we are family! Please ask God to watch over us all! Love you Jason!!

Hang in there sis...we all know the truth. You dont even have to reply anymore just delete...it has went to just being flat silly, I have a feeling this person doesnt even really know Jason and is just a pranker from the internet, or they would leave their name. Marissa and I have your back, and none of us are being punished, having Jason in our lives was a true blessing, we are richer because of him ;)

To Everyone

April 20, 2007

Reminiscing
Jace, I Love You!!

I remember how it used to be
When I had you by my side.
I remember the nights you kept me warm
And I still feel the love that never died.

I remember the smile you wore
That always made my heart race.
I remember the smoothness of your skin,
And every single line of your face.

I remember the comfort of your presence
Where ever we would go.
I remember the warm spring memories
And watching all the flowers grow.

I remember the cold winter days
When even the ice melted at your touch.
I remember the autumn drives,
And watching the leaves change...you enjoyed it so much.

I remember the long summer evenings
When your laughter filled the air.
I remember the love I have for you, but now you're gone...and it's just not fair.

Babe, I miss you so very much. I will never forget the wonderful loving years we have been blessed to spend together.

I will always love you!!!!!!

Your Loving Wife!!!!!!

You echo in your children's voices

Their smiles are your smiles too.

Even though we're filled with sorrow

We still have part of you.

It's growing in our hearts

And living in our heads.

Your voice, your touch are still with us

The love it never ends.

We miss you every day

The pain it grows no less

We are still waiting for your return

We know you'll never come home.

We watch your favorite shows

And hear your favorite songs

The days of missing you

Still seem so very long.

Thank you so much for visiting our page. It doesn't make sense to lose our loved ones so early in life. My heart truly goes out to you. I've never experienced the loss of a child, but Jason does have a daughter from his first marriage, Marissa, whom I love as if she were my own. I'm very blessed her Mom is a wonderful christian woman who still shares Marissa with me & her brothers & sister who live with me. It is irritating for others to visit our pages just to cause drama. But, it's okay. We're praying it away. I will pray for your family daily. May God be with you and help you cope. I think that's all any of us can do is cope. Thanks again. We appreciate your kind words.

Sorry Rose, somehow I clicked on send before I was finished with my message. If the person who isn't satisfied with your pictures or poems doesn't like the manner in which you are paying tribute to your husband, then I suggest they just not visit it. People are so sick at times and don't truly understand what a sudden loss like you have experienced can do to a family. You are in my thoughts and prayers. May God Bless You and your family.

Rose,

I have visited and communicate with John & Brenda via their website. I visited yours for the first time today. I never knew Jason but he sounds like a wonderful, kind, loving husband and Daddy! Our son died 20 months ago in an acutomobile accident. Just recently, people who are too much of a coward to even post their names, have been leaving cruel, heartless messages on Andrew's site. It forced me to delete candles that were lit, shared memories and condolences. In addition, I was forced to write an entry on the main page asking whomever, to STOP.

Rose, I think your web-site is a great way to keep yours and Jason's memories alive. I'm so sorry there are people that are cruel and can even say such hurtful things to you when you have had such a loss. I admire you for being so strong in your love and faith. My prayers are with you and your family.

Deepest sympathies,

And he is my best friend.
We vowed many years ago
To love each other till the end

"Keep Holding On"

You're not alone
Together we stand
I'll be by your side, you know I'll take your hand
When it gets cold
And it feels like the end
There's no place to go
You know I won't give in
No I won't give in

Keep holding on
'Cause you know we'll make it through, we'll make it through
Just stay strong
'Cause you know I'm here for you, I'm here for you
There's nothing you could say
Nothing you could do
There's no other way when it comes to the truth
So keep holding on

'Cause you know we'll make it through, we'll make it through

So far away

I wish you were here

Before it's too late, this could all disappear

Before the doors close

And it comes to an end

With you by my side I will fight and defend

I'll fight and defend

Yeah, yeah

Keep holding on

'Cause you know we'll make it through, we'll make it through

Just stay strong

'Cause you know I'm here for you, I'm here for you

There's nothing you could say

Nothing you could do

There's no other way when it comes to the truth

So keep holding on

'Cause you know we'll make it through, we'll make it through

Hear me when I say, when I say I believe

Nothing's gonna change, nothing's gonna change destiny

Whatever's meant to be will work out perfectly

Yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah

La da da da

La da da da

La da da da da da da da da

Keep holding on

'Cause you know we'll make it through, we'll make it through

Just stay strong

'Cause you know I'm here for you, I'm here for you

There's nothing you could say

Nothing you could do

There's no other way when it comes to the truth

So keep holding on

'Cause you know we'll make it through, we'll make it through

Keep holding on

Keep holding on

There's nothing you could say

If Jason's death could in any way bring someone to Jesus, we are all so very thankful. Jason wouldn't want us to be bitter, just love the Lord. That's what we are going to do for all eternity!!! Jason was a wonderful example of God's Love!!

Eternal Life

March 22, 2007

There are two certainties in this life. Death and the Resurrection. One can't occur without the other, yet one is above the other. Death has no respect for anyone, death comes to us all. Resurrection lifts us above death. To Live is to Die, as Death truly sets us free. Free Eternal Life with Our LORD JESUS. AKB

All the answers now are with Jesus. I can hardly wait to join Jason in Heaven. Can you imagine? I definitely can!! This is the one thing that can never be taken from us. Free Eternal Life with Our LORD JESUS!!!! The Lord above loves each and every person reading this. We should all try to walk the road that Jason so faithfully walked. If you haven't, please think about giving your heart to Jesus. The walk is not always easy, but the Lord will sustain you. God is faithful to his followers. I promise you it is so well worth it.

With Christian Love!!!

Wish we could see you again

March 21, 2007

Boy you never imagine something like this to happen to the ones you love. You are always hearing about stuff like this happening to others and sure you feel for them but I never in a million years would think that it would be you Jason! You the one saving everyone elses lives, how i wish we could have saved yours! In my eyes I thought you would live forever cause you helped so many! You have to wonder why God took such an important person away from this world when there is so many bad ones out there, but you just have to believe that God has a purpose for all of us and one day we really will all be together again! The song on this site "I could only Imagine" wow does that say it all or what!! Of course its hard to listen to without crying cause we all think of you and ya know I can never listen to the song, Without end Amen without thinking of Uncle John and you sitting on chairs in the living room playing that song on the guitars and us all singing together whether we sounded good or not we were all together and having a good time and its those times that are truely going to be missed Jason. Who is going to sing your part now, its just not the same without you! Who am I going to call when Jaden is sick? Or when i have a financial question? You wonder about all these things, or why didn't I ask to talk to you the day I called. You where busy studying but you still stopped long enough to tell me congrats on the new house, and those are the last words you spoke to me. I wish I would have told you that I loved you! All my trips home will never be the same ever again! I remember the day i moved away from there and when i hugged you you where crying and man did that tear me up, thats when everything hit me! Man im growing up and starting a life of my own! And i know thats what your where thinking to!! I know you are proud of us and Jason i really do miss you alot and think about you everyday! I pray every night for God to tell you that I love you for me!! Missing you always!

missing you

March 21, 2007

just missing you. Spent the day with Kim at the river. What a beautiful day, sometimes, I feel your spirit when the wind blows. The glory of the Lord is so obvious at the river. Barbara and Bobby came up to stay a couple of days. We have sat around reminiscing about you. It is great, but it feels so weird for you not to be here. We celebrated my birthday at Uncle Kevin & Aunt Vicky's tonight. Tyler ate tons of icing. It was lots of fun. They are so very sweet to us. We are lucky to live close to them. But, once again, it feels too weird for you not to be here. Kyle was acting so much like you when he was playing on the lawn mower. We told great stories about you. I think that is healing.

We all miss and love you so very very much.

Your Wife

Tyler Blake

March 19, 2007

Hey sweetie, I am forever indebted to you for your part in making Tyler. He is so much like you. Not just in looks, but total attitude. We are truly blessed the Lord shares him with us. He was Speed today. He said his real name is Flash, but he likes Speed better. So that's what I had to call him. His shoes make him run so so so fast. He took Miranda's new toy apart and now we can't figure out how to get it back together. He said if Daddy were here he could fix it. His Daddy can fix everything. He said maybe Uncle Kevin can look at it. He's starting to talk about you more. And he's talking about Skip more. He says you are playing together. He made a picture of you out of rocks at the cemetery. Miranda made the letter M for Miranda & Murray. And a heart. Sometimes Tyler stands on the big mound of dirt and looks in the sky for you flying. I tell him daily that you love him very much. I was crying today and he asked me if I was sad about Daddy, I said yes, and he said that he wished his Daddy would come back home. Then they could play. Me too. What am I supposed to say? We all talk about you so much, and the kids tell God things they want you to know every night. Prayers are getting longer. Except for Ty. Direct and to the point. Just like him, and you. He came in the kitchen the other day and said "Woman", he sounded just like you. Miranda & I were rollin. It was so funny. Guess what he wanted? Nick! Nick! Nick! Uhhhhh!! Remember during Christmas break, we would find ourselves still watching Spongebob even after they went to school. We love you Jace more than words could ever express!!!!!!

Thank you for all 4 of our wonderful children!!

I love you!!

Rose

Well, it's the middle of the night again, and I can't sleep. So, I thought I would write. It's been a long day. Michael & Amanda's wedding was beautiful. Absolutely beautiful. Camryn was adorable & Tyler looked very handsome, just like you. He did a wonderful job. He was so good and sat so still. You would be very proud of your boy. He reminds me so much of you. The wedding was very hard for me. All I could think about was you. When we shared those vows. How loving & faithful our marriage has been. Jason, I have loved being married to you and my heart will stay true to you forever. We stayed for quite a while after the wedding. It was very very hard, because I was so sad, but we ended up enjoying ourselves. Your family is so kind.

Jace, we had a great girls night. I love being with your Mom. The girls made her up so funny. She had six hands fixing her up all at once. I'm sure you heard Marissa laughing all the way up there. Those girls are hilarious. We are so blessed to have them.

Tomorrow (today) is high attendance Sunday. I've convinced 6 people to join us in services. I'm sure Brother Randy will give a great sermon. And I'm sure I will cry through the services. It's okay. I enjoy feeling God's presence. Sometimes, when I am praying at the alter, the presence is overwhelming. I love that. God is so faithful to his people. I know you are worshipping him every second, and honey, I am too.

I miss you so much,

& I love you even more!!

Jason, someone out there is really starting to tick me off. Honey, whoever this person is, who claims to love you, and think they have had a secret with you, sure doesn't give a darn about your kids. Wow, I sure do wish they would brave up and call me. I think I already know who it is, and if I'm wrong, I'll keep on until I find out, so they might as well put up or shut up. Honey, only you know how much I love you, and I have no doubt how much you love me and your children. If, whoever you are happens to read this really knows you that well, they know your cell phone number. I now use that phone. Get brave, call me, you know my name, I am Jason's wife.

Jason, I love you so very much and I will NOT let someone do this to our family!!

True Friends Really Are Forever

March 15, 2007

Sweetie, this isn't really a condolence or a memory. I just miss you. Honey, I wish I could talk with you and tell you that within all of this craziness, I have truly realized how awesome some of your friends are. They were cool before, but there are some that have had my back unconditionally. Jason, you chose friends well. They really love you. And the stories. Your friends have told me some of the neatest stories. I know I am blessed to have you as MY good old boy, but now I know just how much you shared your gift of listening with everyone. You have a great ear. You would listen, simply listen and never judge. I know you really worried about your friends when they had problems. (Now, Jason didn't gossip, but we would ask me to pray with him.) Honey, I don't think you ever realized how much people appreciated you. Just knowing they could confide in you, like we did with each other. I'm really blessed that we were so close. I miss my sounding board too. Your friends at work & school are great. It makes me feel good that some live here in Doniphan. I have no doubt they care about us and would be here in a heartbeat. I honestly think they would do anything for any one of our children. Like I said before you really did choose these friends well. It's amazing to see how you are still blessing us from Heaven.

I Love You Murray!!!!

If only you were here.

March 9, 2007

Sweetie, I really miss you. It's really hard going it alone. (This was never part of the plan). Especially with the kids sick. You always knew the perfect thing to do. They aren't supposed to get sick or hurt unless you are home. Remember, IT'S A RULE. Everything is chaotic here. Sometimes I don't know if they are upset because they are so sick or overwhelmed with grief. They all miss you so much. Miranda still cries many times a day. Rachael's Grandpa moved to heaven too (you probably already know that) and they have been talking about it a lot. She is very sad. What do I say to make it better for her? Tyler is having his very own special issues. I have no clue what to do about him.

This may sound self-centered, but dog gone it I'm really worried about them. You gave the best answers to all of their questions. Miranda said that I sounded like you the other day when I had to get on to Kyle. She so kindly reminded me that we always have Blackie. (Lol) Honey, I'm trying to follow the same guidelines we've had set out for years. It's a good thing you were always so bold about your views on child rearing.

You always say that I need to toughen up, well, honey, I'm toughening up. Not that I've had any options. Everything has changed so much in the last 36 days. I try to tell the kids that the only difference is that Daddy moved to Heaven, but honestly, everything has changed. Every aspect of our present and our future has changed. And I'm still stuck in January 31. I just can't see any future without you in there. My heart will always belong to you Jason. I am so thankful for the countless hours of conversation we shared talking about everything. I'm honestly trying to view everything the way that you did. It's really hard because nothing is the same as 37 days ago. If you were here, (I sure wish you were) I think you would be stunned at the changes in everything. The kids have changed, our family has changed, and our hearts are now broken. The only thing that hasn't changed is the amount of love we have for you. Like the kids say "All the way to God's chimney, and back". Which I say is "Immeasurable!!!!"

My constant prayer is for God to grant me the grace to have a forgiving heart like you have. We have learned so much about our faith together. I will forever be grateful.

Honey, I've still got the kids' back just like I've always had yours. They are all I have left of you. I pray for their protection every day. We are blessed that you are watching over us always.

I love you so very very much!!

February 24, 2007

Where do I begin? Jason was someone that I looked up to alot and Rose I thought that when I first met you that you were awsome and the day Jason married you that was the frist thing that I told you!! I was glad Jason married you! Even though i was young we connected in so many ways! Over the years our families have gotten unbelievable close and Jason and I's relationship was the same way I just wish he was still here for me to share with him all the things that bobby and I have accomplished! I know how proud of Bobby he was and how much he loved the ship and I wish that he would have been able to come this summer and walk on that very ship! We where so excited to show it to him I know he would have loved it! I don't think alot of people understand how truely close we where and it hurts my heart so much that he isn't here! And wow does it sound weird to say that! Jason is a great role model for alot or people and i don't think he realized how important he was! It makes me sad to know that i didn't get to say goodbye that i was 1,000 miles away and wasn't able to spend all that time with him that i wanted to but i know he understands why! Rose i will be here for you and those kids no matter what and i love you very much and you know i love Kyle, Marissa, Miranda and Ty like they are my own! You know that if you ever need me to call! I wish i could say i would be there in a second but i can't and that really sucks! I also wish that Jason could be here to see my daughter grow up but i will make sure that she knew who you where and how awesome of a person you was! May you rest in Heaven and i pray someday i will see you again!! I love you Jason Murray and Miss You So Very Much!!

Tyler's Mommy

Jason, Jason, Jason, I'm so excited for Ty. With all his ear problems we had to sign him up for speech. Remember when he was 3 and we took him to meet Mrs. Toni. Your very first question was "Will Tyler still have to have speech in Jr. High?" She told us that she wasn't doing her job if he was. Well, guess what? She has done an AWESOME job. I can tell a huge difference in his words (most of his words). Except for flooded & tree. She said that's just the sweet sound of his words. I had a meeting with her this morning. She said he passed every test. He won't have to have speech anymore. But, she also said that she still wants us to come out to her house & visit with her, so she can keep up with him. Mrs. Toni really loves Ty and for that I am very thankful. I knew you would be so very proud. We also went to his class & all the kids signed his cast. You should have seen him. He ate up all the attention. Mrs. Kelli gave me his Alphabet book. He does really good. She told me to look at L first, it stood for Love. Tyler drew a picture of me & you. (& somebody shooting an arrow) Mrs. Kelli said that he told her a big story about the picture when we were at the river shooting arrows with his toy. She said that he told her he loves his Daddy & Mommy best. It's so nice of her to share that with me. It's not fair that you won't be here for him. You finally get your own boy, & then he doesn't have his Daddy. Doesn't make any sense.

Anyway, I just wanted you to know!! I prayed to God & asked him to tell you too. I'm very proud of our boy, Tyler Blake Murray for the both of us.

I LOVE YOU!!!!!!!

Rose

This Mother's Day will be Mom's hardest Mother's day ever. This whole entire month will be very hard for her. Mother's Day, Jason's 33rd Birthday, & Jason's RN Pinning. I'll be keeping Mom in my prayers constantly!!

Rose

Babe, God is really sending the rain down today. Remember how the little creek down the road floods so bad. Tyler was talking about it today. He said every time it flooded (it's so cute to hear him say flooded) we took him down there to go exploring. He says he's like Diego. :) (today) He was talking about all the cool treasures you would help him find. You always threw the biggest rocks in, and splashed him all over. He says that was his favorite part, or maybe walking in the water in his rain boots. He couldn't make up his mind. He does love those boots. Now he says it's cause Daddy wore boots sometimes. We've spent a lot of quality time together lately. He really is so much like you. If I happen to look sad, he will ask me if I want a Daddy hug. Those hugs are my link to you. Thanks, babe. I LOVE YOU!!!

Love you Jason

Rose-Your late-night study partner.

This is one of my favorite pictures. Jason studied so very hard. School is one of the most important things in his life. He truly wanted to be a Registered Nurse and recently he had been talking about going on to become a Nurse Practitioner. He would have made it. I have no doubt!!! Jason's pinning and graduation is coming up this month. Man, I sure wish he was here to accept it. I'm very very proud of him. As I know we all are. Back to the picture. It's taken in our bedroom, before he got his very own study room. He sure loves his laptop. He would lay in bed next to me at night with it & study or learn about the End Times. I had found so many christian, inspiring web sites that he has been looking at. The Cardinals hat he is wearing still smells like him a bit, and I find myself sleeping in one of his Cardinals shirts alot. It makes me feel closer to him. The towels are on the windows because Jason works so hard at night and sleeps during the day. He likes it absolutely dark. But, you know, the noise level never bothered him. The kids could make all kinds of racket, he never noticed. The kids used to argue over who got to wake Daddy up. I had to make them take turns. It really made them feel special. Daddy would love on them for a few minutes before he got up. Sometimes, I got to do it too. Only if it was my turn. :) Jason, I will love & miss you for the rest of my life. Then I'll be with you again.

Rose, For Jason, Jeannie, & John Brian

Jeannie gave me this picture. I know how much Jeannie & John Brian will always be hurting. Jason, their love for you is tremendous!! I'll be praying for them & their families always.

Rose

Sweetie, I was thinking about how sweet our kids are. And how sweet you are with them. Remember the time I was having a tea party with Miranda. You & Uncle Kevin & Ty were outside working on something. No telling what, you guys were always outside pilfering with something. :) Miranda ran out on the front porch hollering for you guys to come in and have a tea party with them. Well, that's all it took, you & Kevin heard the word TEA!! You both came in & sat right down. Miranda was so excited.

Ty just wanted ya'll to hurry up so he could go back outside. She served REAL tea & little cakes. You guys gobbled them up. & when you drank the tea, you always put your pinkies out. You said you were royalty. I'm sure your crown is full of jewels in Heaven. Your Mama always tells me you are her precious jewel. She is so right. Miranda really liked looking at these pictures tonight. She said that she misses playing with you. Mostly tickling your feet and wrestling with you. Babe, please help God watch over her tonight while she sleeps & only give her sweet dreams. She loves you so very much. I love you too!!

Your loving wife

I miss you more & more every day. It's so hard to really grasp that you really aren't going to walk through our front door again. The kids & I are slowly carrying on, but man, it's really hard. Our whole life revolved around you. Still does. Babe, we are off to church, wish you were here for us to wake up when we got home, to discuss the service, eat lunch, study with, live with. Miranda says to tell God hi & we are going to sing for him today.

I WILL LOVE YOU FOREVER!!!

Rose

Jace, I just got home. I hate coming home without you here. I remember every Popcorn Friday. Kyle & Miranda still in school, and Tyler at Aunt Vicky's. We had the house to ourselves for a couple of hours. I really miss spending that special alone time with you. Friday afternoons will always be special to me.

Well, I made a big pot roast & all the fixins for your buddies at the Ambulance Shed. I'm gonna go take it to them. Babe, I miss you so much. Life will never ever be anywhere near normal again without you here. I LOVE YOU!!!

Rose

Sweetie, sorry it's taken me so long to re-write this memory. (I thought I posted it this morning before I took the kids to school, but I guess I forgot to hit send.) It's been a crazy day. Well, every day for the last 86 have been crazy. & alot before that too. :) We all went to Sis's band concert last night. I don't know if her talent is from you or Christie, but man, she sure has it. Not only on the sax, but her voice is out of this world. I've never heard Christie sing, but your entire family is blessed with great singing voices. When we first got together, you & Rissa would sing at church together. It was the sweetest thing in the world. Marissa sure has a great support system. Her Mom & Jason are really good to her. We are all so blessed to have Marissa in our lives. When Tyler & Miranda first saw Marissa come out last night, their faces just lit up. They really really love her. She always takes time out to play with them. Even when it's irritating. She always plays every silly game they ask. The cutest thing is when she is teaching Miranda cheers. I remember how they used to put on Cheer shows for us. Honey, Christie has been really great about still sharing Marissa with us. I'm so very thankful for the friendship that the two of you have continued. But, I'm most thankful for Marissa's love. She is truely a shining star. I have unconditional faith in her and love her like she really is my own. She is a blessing from God.

Jason took this picture at a previous concert. He has always been so proud of his little girl!!! I am too!!!

Your Wife

Hey babe, I'm sure missing you. I just hung up the phone with your cousin/my friend, Clarissa. I'm so very thankful that she is your cousin. But, I think I'm more thankful that she is one of my best friends. I miss our families being able to spend time together. There are so many memories of Clarissa being at our house. Like every weekend for many many years (LOL). One of my favorite memories is when she went to Las Margarita's with us. She wouldn't ever try anything new, unlike you. You convinced her, well you gave her NO choice, to try something different. She loved it. You guys teased each other so much that night. We stayed there laughing for about 2 hours. Now, Clarissa is all growned up, married to a great guy, has a beautiful daughter, & lives half-way across the country. We are really lucky to have Bobby, Clarissa, & Jaden in our lives, but I sure do hate them living so far away. We are so excited about going to see them this summer. Especially Kyle, he gets to stay longer than the rest of us. BUT, he is NOT flying home. I promise you Jason. I just know that Clarissa will very graciously meet me half-way. You were so excited about vacationing with them this July. You wanted to see the oceans on both sides of the United States. Now you can see it all!!!

Jason talked about Clarissa & Bobby alot. As much as I hate them being so far away, Jason was filled with pride every time he talked to them. (He would tell me when he got off the phone) He was very proud of Bobby for being dedicated to his career in the Navy. I remember one conversation we had after he had talked to both Bobby & Clarissa. Jason said that Bobby was definately becoming a man. He was being very responsible and was taking good care of his family. He said that he was glad that Clarissa was staying home (that's really important to Jason) & taking care of Jaden & Bobby. He told me that he was praying for them to find a good church to attend in Virginia and for Clarissa to take some kind of nursing class that she had always dreamed of. Honey, please keep a close eye on them. Keep them safe while they are so far away from family.

I LOVE YOU!!!!!!

Kim Allen

Jason, I went to stay at your house with the family the last couple of nights and I just had to write to say it was very hard for me to be around all your pictures and memories and in your space without you there. I have always said I thought that would be the hardest thing to have to deal with for Rose. But in the three days that I stayed there, I realized that your wife is alot stronger than we ever gave her credit for before. We thought she was just reserved and vulnerable, but we were wrong. She's proven to me in three days that she has more strength than I could ever hope or dream to have. As much as I know her soul aches and wrenches for you to be with her, she still wakes up every morning and gets the kids ready for the bus and takes care of Tyler and his broken leg (the last thing she needed in this horrific time of grief) and still manages to remember all the little daily chores that we all have to manage to get through our daily lives. I see God surrounding her and comforting her, and right when she feels she can't go on and she has that momemntary lapse of strength and tears begin to roll down her cheeks, I see God lift her up with a memory of you, or a joke from a friend, or a demand from a child that gently moves her on to the next moment without you. She does it with small little steps, but it just enough to help her rise above the daily challenges and crisis' she must face everyday without you. On the day she had to take Ty to get his hard cast she woke up angry and sad. And even though she didn't say a word to me, I know that she wanted you to be there with her to ease her burden and load. Every day she realizes there is one more thing she will have to do without you, and it kills me to not be able to wave my magic wand and make all the hurt, pain, sorrow, and most especially lonliness go away. I want her to be able to wake up and have you by her side again where you belong. I want her to have her son's daddy with her to help him throw his birthday party's. But I have no magic wand, I have nothing but my undying friendship for both you and her that will let her know I will always be there for her. And most importantly that we both have God to turn to and depend on when we feel we can't go any further, and we have you as a guardian angel watching over us all. And since your wife has so valiantly fought this past three months, I was wondering if you couldn't put in a word for her with the big boss and see if he can't give her a break. To somehow, someway let her know that she is a truly beautiful person both inside and out. And that she is protected and covered by God's love and he will never let her falter. Jason, let her feel your smile from heaven and know that you think she is doing the best job she can under the circumstances. I miss you Jason, very much. But I know my sadness only pales in comparison to how much Rose misses and needs you in her life. Let her feel you, she needs to know you are on her side and routing for her as much as I am. Until I see you again, Love Kim.

Rose

Jason, I Love You & Miss You So Much!!!!

My Love For You Is Eternal!!!!

Always,

Well babe, 5 years ago today God blessed you with a little boy of your very own. One you didn't have to share with anyone. He is such a little miracle. The doctor had told us to give up. Miranda was our miracle baby who we didn't think we would ever have. But wow, when we found out we were pregnant with Ty. It was the most awesome thing ever, but yet still scary. 4 children is a wonderful blessing. Our pregnancy was very long and difficult. You would rub my belly and talk to Baby Ty all the time. Our most precious time was at bedtime when you would sing him to sleep in my belly. Remember when it was FINALLY time for our Section. You were so supportive when you rubbed my hair and whispered to me as Carrie was doing the surgery. You really loved watching the surgery.

Medicial People. :) You talked about how lucky we were that God blessed us once again. I'll never forget the look on your face when Carrie showed you Ty. Utter Joy!!! I'm thankful I got to be a part of that. It makes me so sad when I think about all the time the two of you should have had together. God must surely have the greatest purpose for taking you home to Him. Cause, I don't always get it. I think we need you here. I'm so thankful that I have watched you be a father to Kyle. Now I'll know what you would want for Tyler too. Honey, I'll do my very very best to be everything to him for both of us. I promise to tell Tyler how much you loved him every day for the rest of my life. A part of you will forever live in Tyler Blake Murray!!!! Thank You Jason & Thank You God for that wonderful gift. JACE, I LOVE YOU!!!!

Rose

Hey sweetie. Ty's 5th birthday went very well today. You would be so very proud of your son. He's an awesome boy. We missed you so very very much. Life still just doesn't seem right without you here. Even though I wish so much you were, I really do see you in your children. They love you & miss you so much. I truly felt the presence of God today. Thank you for your love. I WILL LOVE YOU FOREVER for helping create these 4 wonderful children!!!! & for being the best husband in the entire world. I LOVE YOU!!!!!!!

Rose (Kyle's Mom)

Hey sweetie!! Kyle wanted me to write this memory for you because it's late and I made him go to bed. MAP testing tommorrow. He had a sports banquet tonight. Your sweet friend, Ner, took him. (Ty can't go to the bathroom without me) He really acts like Taylor Pearl is his sister. They are so cute. I'm glad he has a friend like her. Her dad's surgery is on Monday. I will sure keep them in my prayers. Back to the memory, remember when we had all the problems at school with the ACLU mad because we said prayers in assemblies? We had some long talks with the kids about standing up for what we believe in, no matter the repercussions. Remember our cool sign in the front yard that says, "Dear God, Bless Our Students, In Jesus Name, AMEN!!! Well, our school really stood up for God. For the last year only the kids have said the prayers. But tonight, the big man at school, began the program, talking about the horrible killings in Virginia. Kyle was real close to the front, and he saw him look at the Dare officer, shrug his shoulders, (like who cares) and he said a prayer. We were so proud of him for doing that. Our school is a great school. We stand up for what we believe in. That is what God wants us to do. You would be very very proud. I love you!!!

Rose

Ty feels lots better today. He says that it itches down inside where we can't reach. He's a little frustrated that he can't stand at all. But he says he likes being carried around. :) Today was Grandma day. Ty & I went to lunch with Great-Grandma, Grandma Murray, & Grandma Ida. We had a really good time. It was a blessing. Mom & I were talking today about the old days. It made me remember the time one Sunday, after church, the whole family went out to eat at China Garden. We sat around a big long table. You, JB, & Walter teased about everything. It was the best time. You sure loved China Garden. It was your favorite restaurant. Except for when they closed to early for the night shift to get takeout. I remember all the times you called and I drove from Doniphan just to take you something to eat. I always had to take enough for the other tweedle too. :) & everyone else. They all requested brownies and I would make you a special container just for you to make sure you got some. I'm so proud to be your wife. I miss you so much. I will love you forever!!!

Rose

I'm thankful that God lent you to me even just for a little while. Until we join together in Heaven, I'm missing & loving you.....

Your wife, Rose

What a day!! The doctor visit went well. God blessed us with Kyle & Sissy Jo being okay. Well, Miranda is still sick, but with good medicine she'll be well in about a week. Baby Ty on the other hand, has had a NO GOOD, VERY BAD day. He broke his favorite leg. His left one. I can't help but wonder the glory that you are reveling in. It has to be the most important job ever to take you away from us now, when we are fumbling around down here in this worldly earth. I truely believe that you are now a Warrior in God's army. I know how you feel about prophecy, the time is near.

Tyler is the most pitiful looking boy. It just breaks my heart even more to see him in pain. His leg hurts ALOT. Even though his leg is broken, God made it a clean break. It will heal without surgery. Everyone at the hospital was very kind. Brenda (Billy's wife) came in just to check on us. (& alot of others)

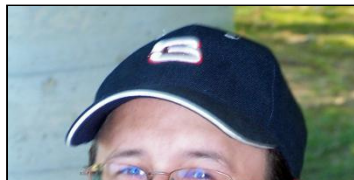

Everyone really misses you, & it wasn't even your shift. It is incredibly kind of the people who worked the weekend of your funeral for your co-workers. Today, I was able to thank some of them personally. My heart still breaks for the ones you spent every weekend night with. I want to THANK the LORD for making it a clean break!! It's gonna be tough on Ty. He says he is going to break every trampoline he sees. Ya know, I think we will help him. No matter how many precautions (safety net, standing there watching them, etc...) we take, YOU ARE SO RIGHT, trampolines are dangerous. You wouldn't let us get one after we got rid of our last one, but you would let the kids jump at other places cause they (especially Ty) loves it so much. He doesn't like it so much anymore. I promise you, our children will never jump on one again. Sweetie, we have always known what the most important things in our life are, but today that was reaffirmed. Ya know, this other person thinks they have it all figured out, but God showed me again today what really matters in life. This anonymous stuff is just the Devil trying to hurt us. Won't work! God blessed me with your children. There is no greater gift from God. Or from you!! Thanks Murray!!

Honey, Mom helped me and I booked the pool at the colesium for Ty's birthday Sunday. He's really dissapointed he can't swim now. He's going to dream of the perfect place for it. I went and picked up his Daddy picture today. It's the exact height of you. The picture is a little fuzzy, but I just can't find a full standing picture of you from head to toe. Ty is going to be so excited. He's been asking for it for a long time. A Daddy, Superman, Spiderman, Batman Birthday!! Oh yeah, and the bike you promised. He won't let me forget that. :)

I miss you so so much & I love you more than anyone will ever know. No one knows except you, I, & God!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Rose

Sweetie, my memory for today is about the river. Go figure. Current river is our favorite place in the world. Remember when you used to tell out of town people how awful our river was. You always told them to go on up to Van Buren. In all reality, you just didn't want to share. You said that if we talked up Van Buren then maybe everyone would go there instead. We have so many many memories of going to the cabin alone together, but this memory is when Bobby, Clarissa & Jaden went with us one weekday last summer. We went early in the day. Man, we all got sunburned. We just hung out together on the boat all day. Kim & Mike came later in the day. We had an awesome campfire that night. You, Bobby, & Clarissa had some other adventures at the river, but I promised Bobby that I would let him write about them. You sure spent alot of time talking about your adventures with them. Jace, I sure will miss sitting around the campfire with you this summer. Remember all the great times we had listening to nature in the night. Sometimes, that was the best part of our time there. These pictures were taken that day. Babe, I Love You!!!!!!

Rose

Honey, I know it seems like I write a lot. I can't help it. I just miss you so blasted much. This all still seems unreal. Our whole future is gone. Life is just at a standstill. All I can think about is you. Everything about you. Ty's birthday is coming up soon. All he keeps asking for is a Daddy birthday. He wants a life-size picture of you. And the bike he remembers you promising him. It's so hard to believe he's going to be 5. His birthday just won't be the same without you there. I was looking through your nightstand a couple of days ago, and guess what I found? The money you were saving. There was a little slip of paper with it that said "Curio cabinet, 11 years, bed & breakfast, Branson, for my wife". You drew a heart on the paper. Wow, sweetie, it really makes my heart feel good to know that you cherish our anniversary as much as me. There was quite a bit there, you must have been saving for a while. Our anniversary was still a couple of months away when you moved to Heaven. I'm going to use the money to go on our headstone. Babe, I don't think this pain will ever go away. Not just for me, but for your whole family. I just wish you could come back home to me so bad. Well, sweetie, I'm gonna go lay my head on your pillow and sleep in your favorite t-shirt. I can still smell you a little bit when I open your dresser drawers. It's wonderful. I'll cherish every note, letter, & card you have given me. Just like I will always cherish every true memory that I have of you.

Jason Madison Murray-----I Love You-----Raylene Rose Murray

Raylene

Wow, I miss it when you called me Raylene. Sure wish I could hear it now. I was just thinking about our last day together. January 30, 2007. You had school stuff in the morning. But you called me as I was picking up Tyler from school. You just wanted to know if I had taken my stop smoking medicine you got for me. I told you yes. You called me Raylene. You said I had to quit because you love me and want to grow old together. Babe, you didn't know how much that statement would mean to me. Man, am I ever clinging to it today. You brought me & Ty lunch. And I helped you with your schoolwork that afternoon. After supper, you ran out to Michael & Kristi's to get a paper from him. He told me that you said you couldn't stay long, because you were excited I turned the toy room into a study and you wanted to show me how much you appreciated it. I'll never forget that night. Not for the rest of my life. Thank you so much for your love babe. The kids say they remember you saying prayers with them that night. I'm so glad. Please help God watch over your family. We all need it now more than ever.

I love you!!!!!!!

Rose

Just wanted to put these pictures on for Christie. Easter at Jeannie's. It's amazing how big our kids are getting. We are all so blessed to have them!!!

Rose

Hey Murray,

I miss you so very much. Ty is sick again. This season is so hard on him. He really wants you when he's sick. He says his Daddy can fix anything. Cause you know stuff about being sick. He told me a story today about when you hurt your back. He said you took him to the grocery store and showed him how to get in the back of the cart by pushing up the front. He was so proud he knew how to do it. He's talking about you more now. We went to the cemetery and put out a stand that Bobby made. & we hung some windchimes that Aunt Vicky got you. The stand has 2 sides. One side is empty. Anyone is welcome to put anything out at the cemetery for you. (except for the person who is writing ugly messages on our pages) I can't wait for everyone to get together to go look at headstones. We really need one out there. I'm praying everyone can get together soon. We really need to do it all together. That is what you would want. & me too. I really want your Mom & Dad, your brother & sister, & the kids to help decide which one to get. I feel like it is a tribute not only to you, but also to your whole family. We are honored and blessed to be a part of your life. Honey, you will never be forgotten. I promise!!!! I love you so very much!! Every waking minute, I spend thinking about you and our life together. It's been 70 days and it still feels like it happened this morning. I'm so glad you have an eternity of happiness in Heaven, but man I sure hate being here without you. I love you!!!!

Fly With The Angels

The moment you died,
My heart split in two.
One side filled with memories.
The other died with you.
I often lay awake at night,
When the world is fast asleep.
And take a walk down memory lane,
With tears upon my cheeks,
I hold you tightly within my heart,
And there you will remain.
Life has gone on without you,
But never will it be the same.

miranda-jo madison

I like this picture a whole lot. Mommy showed it to me when we are looking on the computer. It has been raining here today. Mommy says you are helping God water the flowers. I miss you Daddy. I wish you were home. I love you Daddy.

Rose

I have talked to the wisest person in Jason's family. He said that he has never met anyone that Jason would have been interested in. Dad told me to delete all of this crap. Even my stuff where I was defending US. He said he doesn't like someone degrading Jason's memory. Someone is trying to do that. Jason deserves better than what some people are giving him. So, until whoever is writing all the bull gets brave (which won't happen, that takes guts and I don't think they have any) and comes & talks to me, I will just delete everything.

Babe, I'm sorry someone is doing this. Nothing will ever change how much I love you!!!!

boat to the river.

Sweetie, my memory for today is how much you loved being outside with the kids. And they loved it too. Even when we were just pilfering outside, they were outside with us. It didn't matter how little they were. In this picture Kyle is about 8 years old and Miranda-Jo is not yet 1. You used to play in the gravel with the kids and toy cars and trucks. It was so cool the things ya'll created for the cars to go over. I wish Ty could have had that a little more. Remember how you always said we shouldn't take naps in the summer time. There was just too much life to live outside. No one was ever more ready to take the boat to the river than you. Except, maybe Ty. He pretended to be Daddy every time he drove the boat. He is so much like you. He's already hounding me to get the

Remember the drives we would go on. No particular destination. Just going where felt right. Man, we would get into some adventures. I remember one of our excursions that was a family outing. We were looking at trailers for someone. There were a ton of us. We piled into 2 cars and took off on a whim. We went to that trailer place down by Marmaduke, Arkansas. I smile every time I think of us breaking down at the Fuzzhead C-Store in Marmaduke, Arkansas. The tow truck driver, Randy, said that he thought it was a prank call and almost didn't come. Brenda took Mom & all the kids home in one car, while you, me, John Brian, & Kyle waited for Randy. We had to pile into the front of the tow truck. It was really cramped. Ya'll made fun of everything. Every time I see Randy in town we have a chuckle over that. We were so very glad he believed us and actually rescued us. We are all missing you so much.

I love you!!!

Brenda,

I remember who the trailer was for. Sometimes, I don't know what to say in a memory and what not to. Miranda was there too. She was really little. The trailers were really crappy and John's car was a piece of crap. But so was ours. We did have to get it towed. I remember ya'll couldn't find us. We saw you when you came to get us, but you didn't see us. It's probably better ya'll didn't move here, you would have hated it. We do, and always have. Jason & I were paying this piece of crap off and getting out of here this summer. I'll still do it. Jason & I both really love my Mama, but enough is enough. Man, that was sure back in the day wasn't it.

Rose

Well babe, we made it through easter. Each holiday is tougher not easier. I feel so incredibly alone since your gone. We went to Tim & Jennifer Hood's after church. Tim's whole family was there. It was just like old times. Except we wanted you there. Tim & Tyler play fought for a long time. Ty kept asking Tim "Do you wanna tussle?" Tim would say he was too old and Ty would say "Well, bring it on old man!" We had a really good time. The kids hunted easter eggs and we HAD to get out of the house for a while. We were going stir crazy. Tim & Jennifer are very loyal friends. Babe, we're very luck to have them. After we left their house, Mom called & asked me to come to Fisk. Some nice ladies your Dad works with got the kids an easter basket. It is very kind of them. Jace it's hard goin to Fisk now. Everyone there is just as sad there as here in Doniphan. Christie brought Marissa over too. We sat & looked at old pictures. I enjoyed being at Mom's. All in all, we all made it through easter. Now to worry about Baby Ty's birthday. I miss you so very much!!!!

I LOVE YOU!!!

Clarissa

Well i have already written about all the easters that we have had together but today is soo different! On one hand we are happy cause we know your up there watching and mom and dad came to Virginia to spend easter with us for the first time here, but on the other is very sad cause its the first one we have had to have without you! I talked to Rose today and she sounds so sad, i wish i could just make it all better for her! I know for the past 2 years Bobby and i haven't gotten to spend easter with you Jason but i sure do remember all the other wonderful ones that we had! It was easter at your house 6 years ago that Bobby asked me to be his girlfriend, i remember we grilled! This is also the first year that mom and dad have been away from home for easter so the kids and Rose was kinda freakin out and i could understand they have been there with them this whole time! Jason it snowed here like crazy yesterday just out of nowhere! It hardly ever snows here it was so weird! Dad is making his famous ham, Jason I know you would have loved it as you always did! No holiday or birthday or special occasion will ever be the same without you! Mom and dad brought dexter to me and he is doing really good, i think he misses jake though lol! He is a really good dog and hasn't even tried to run out the door here! Jason show Rose some happiness today cause she sure does need it and show her that your still there and please tell God to help her to have strength and to get through everyday one at a time! Happy Easter Jason! We all love you so very much and miss you even more!!

Love ya! Clarissa

Burb. Scary, huh.

Sweetie, we went to the river tonight. I think Mike had an "okay" birthday. He told me that this summer just isn't going to feel right without the other "boat captian" there. (all he gets is me attempting to drive your boat) Kyle brought Sadie with us to the river. They are so sweet together. She's really helping in the tooth-brushing & deodorant departments. (LOL) We hunted easter eggs both at the river and at Jeannie's yesterday. Okay, we weren't as prepared as Jeannie, we hunted tennis balls at the river. (It worked) Only because the kids either ate all the eggs we dyed at Jeannie's on the way home or else they are lost in the Mike, Kim, & I have been talking about our last trip to Branson together. We had a blast. We shared that bed & breakfast with them. We ALL remembered YOUR favorite parts. The hammock & the hot tub. Gosh, remember how much fun the bumper boats were. You guys ganged up on me, and I couldn't get out from under the waterfall. I was soaked. We all laughed until we cried. When we rode the go-carts (for an hour) we were like four 16-year olds. The other patrons probably thought we were crazy. You said it didn't matter, cause we were having the time of our lives. We discovered how really good you were at miniature golf. Way much better than me.

After the 1st night, you & Mike drove back to the cabin at the river, and hung out another night alone. (Complained about me & Kim) lol. He told us tonight about how peaceful it was around the campfire that night. Listening to the owls hoot. He says you are the only person to listen to his stories over and over and never act like you heard it before. Ya'll went fishing wayyyyyyyy up river. Farther than he had ever taken Kim. You teased her about it so much, she insisted he take her at least a "little" bit further than you. Mike really misses you babe, he gives me the biggest hug every time I see him, and he tells he every time that you love me. He is really a great friend to you. We are blessed that Kim & Mike are friends to both of us.

Babe, I love you!!!!!!!

Rose

Jace, I'm very proud to be part of your family. We had a family dinner tonight. It seems so strange for you not to be here. We all just sat around and talked, mostly about you. It was really nice. No matter how hard it is for us to all be together without you here we will always continue to have those dinners. We promised each other. Babe, they are leaving tomorrow to go to Virginia to see Clarissa, Bobby, & Jaden. I know they really miss them. They are all so excited. Miranda is really upset. She's worried they won't come back. Aunt Vicky talked to her and told her Yes, they ARE coming back. I think maybe it helped. I'm really excited for them all, but we don't like them to be so far away from us. Or Clarissa and Bobby either. Uncle Kevin & I talked about all the times you guys always did goofy stuff together. No matter what kind of a mood someone is in, Kevin can change that. There have been countless times that you were at your wits end trying to fix something and called Kev right up. Sometimes you already had it fixed, you just wanted Kevin to scope it out. (LOL) He always dropped everything to rush right over and help you with whatever crisis you were having. Honey, I have seen them or talked to them every day for the last 64 days. So many times it's just to play with the kids. We are really lucky that they have our back. They have truly been a blessing to your little part of family that lives in our home. I will be forever thankful for the both of them & their children. It's really late and we have a big day planned tommorrow.

Good Night Sweetie, I pray for dreams of you. I love you!!!!

Clarissa

Hey Jason, well I haven't written in a little while but its ok. Easter is coming up and I'm sure Rose and the Kids are going to miss you more than ever, so just be with them and show them that even though you aren't there in body that you are there in spirit! I remember the many easters we all had together before I moved here to virginia, and you BBQing, man that food was good, you were always such a good cook and the times I would stay at your house is when I would try something new and you would always make fun of me cause I never tried much! Jason, Mom and Dad are coming here tomorrow, so please just watch over them and be by their side while they take the long drive here! People drive so crazy here and since your accident I'm even more paranoid, cause I have had a few close calls and I know you were watching over me and keeping me save as well as the whole family! It's so sad that you are gone but at times it makes me feel good knowing that you are up there to keep us safe! I wish we could have shared more easters together! And ya know, I also want to thank you for marrying such a wonderful and caring person, Jason, Rose loves you so much and is so sad all the time, I can tell when she is having a bad day but yet she still listens to my problems and issues! I just love her for that, I don't know what I would do without her, helps me sooo much! We are each others rock at times and I wish that we didn't have to go through this but at least we have each other! You know we talked about Mom and Dad moving here but now I'm glad that she has them there for support, my Mom and Dad have been great! When Bobby gets time he is going to write on here about the camero,river, and you know what else!! LOL That Jason is OUR special memory!!! We will never forget that, all of us that were there at the river that night! Boy it still doesn't seem real to me I guess cause I'm all the way over here and don't have to live the everyday life there walking through your house and you not being there! I do wish I could be there though! Just want you to know that I think about you everyday and that I love you and miss you so much! Hope your having fun in heaven! We know you can see no bad which its a VERY good thing! Love you Jason

Rose

Hey sweetie. Gosh, I miss you so much. In the mail today, I got the accident reconstruction report. Wow, it's really long. I know it's important, but who would have ever thought it.

One of the many things that I'm upset about is the highway where our accident occurred. I can't count the number of times you have told me about working scenes on that stretch of highway. Of course, it was usually at the end of the four lane or on the curve. Your accident was right in the middle on the straight part. If it were 4-lane instead of 2-lane, wow, what a difference that might make for others traveling that highway. I'm working on it honey. I, personally, can't find any reason why a 4-lane highway hasn't been constructed yet. I'm on a mission to get it done as soon as possible. We have to hurry, before any more accidents occur there. I could go on forever, but we have school tomorrow. Ty & Miranda both have Easter parties tomorrow. They are really excited.

We have become the other people this always happens to. How did that happen? It wasn't in our plan. The real truth is that we have to follow the plan of our Creator. Not our plan.

Good night babe. I love you!!!

From Your Loving Wife

Dear God,
May all the tears I cry,
and all the tears I have not cried but hold within,
pour forth into Your hands.

Beside your grave I often stand
With heart both crushed and sore,
Silent till the sweet words come,
"Not lost, but gone before."
God knows how much I miss you,
He counts the tears I shed,
And whispers "He only sleeps,
Your loved one is not dead."
So I'll be brave dear Jason,

And pray to God each day,
And when He calls me home to you,

Your smile will guide the way.

I miss you so very much sweetie. You are the love of my life. Thank you for being the best husband in the world. I long for the day when you hold me in your arms again. I love you!!

Rose

I thought of you:

I thought of you with love today, but that is nothing new.
I thought about you yesterday, and the day before that, too.
I think of you in silence, I often say your name,
But all I have is memories and your picture in a frame.

Your memory is my keepsake, with which I'll never part.
God has you in his keeping, I have you in my heart.
I shed tears for what might of been, a million times I cried.
If love alone could have saved you, you never would have died.

In life I loved you dearly, in death I love you still,
In my heart you hold a place no one could ever fill.
It broke my heart to lose you, but you didn't go alone,
For part of me went with you, the day God took you home.

My brother Mark Edward Snedeker moved to Heaven 13 years ago. Like Jason, he left behind a wife and 4 children. I was looking at Mark's death announcement last night and my wonderful sister-in-law, Caroline, had this poem with it. I don't know who wrote it there wasn't an author. I now can truly relate to her pain. I miss Mark more than ever, (he was my closest sibling) but Caroline misses him for so many different reasons than the rest of us. Her heart is still in tangles. This poem fit exactly how I feel about Jason. A huge part of my Heart & Soul went with Jason the day he moved. I will never forget the love we share and I will love Jason forever!!!!

Rose Murray

Sweetie, I won't be writing any more Memories on here for a while. Decided that our memories are just too precious to share right now. My heart is too raw. And you know what, your right, sometimes the internet is bad.

I promise you, Sweetie, I will always take care of the kids. Your moving to Heaven is really tough on them. They are my first priority. Always. They are what we have left of you. Creations of your Love. Christie & I are so blessed to have had your unconditional love. Thank you. The kids are the most precious things in my life. They are blessed to have you as a Daddy. I will always keep your presence strongly in our home. I am blessed as well. You are the best husband in the world. I'm most thankful for the fact that we shared our love for our Lord with each other. It made our love stronger. What carries me through is Christmas break. The way you told me you saw our future together. Oh, the plans we had. You said you would love me until the end of time. I promised right back to you, and baby, I will. Forever!! I'm grateful for all the loving time we shared with each other and the kids. I'll never let them forget your love. Forever & Always..... i love you!!!

Rose

Sweetie, life is overwhelming. Sometimes it hurts so bad to remember. It makes me think of our future without you. Which I just CAN'T do. I just can't help but think of you every second. Jace, I know I've said it a million times, but what I wouldn't give for just one more minute with you here. If only we had kissed 4 times instead of 3 that morning. If only the tire wasn't low on the Burb. If only you had hugged the kids just a little bit longer. If only that man had stayed on his side of the road. There are so many if only's. The real reality is if only God hadn't needed you so soon. Sweetie, I miss you more than all the fish & turtle in the river, but I am so happy that you are oblivious to life on earth & that you now spend every second worshipping our Lord. I'm trying to be patient as I wait for the day I join you at the Gates of Heaven.

Rose

Hey sweetie, Jeannie shared some great memories of you with me today. She told me about a time when you guys were over at Aunt Juley's watching a scary movie. Noone realized that you & James snuck outside. She said everyone was really into the movie at a scary part when you & James started banging on the sliding glass doors making noises and scared everyone. You are so good at startling people. You scared the tar out of me every time I took a bath when you would bang on the wall from your study room. & then all I could hear was you laughing so loud.

I'll never forget when Jeannie was pregnant with Macayla. I think you gained more weight than she did!! You were always so tickled when your brother or sister announced they were having a baby. Isn't it amazing how much Colton & Tyler look just like their Daddy's. Not only are Jeannie & John Brian blessed to be your sibling, you were blessed to be theirs. They really love you babe.

I love you & miss you so much!!

Rose

Wow, this would have been a great morning to go to the river. Remember last year around this time. We went at least 10 times last spring. Friday's as soon as the kids got on the bus & Aunt Vicky got Ty, you would hook up the boat and off we would go.

Wayyyy up river. You always said that this is really the most peaceful time to be on the river. We would just sit and talk about anything and everything. You said that you felt God surrounding us there. I still feel Him there. I feel you there too. Ty said your boat looks lonely. It wants to go to the river. But, I'm scared. Really scared. I don't want to mess up your boat. Your river buddy, Mike, is gonna help me get it ready. & teach me to go through the chute. Maybe I'll just put in where I don't have to go through it. That sounds like a plan. I just don't really want to be in the boat without YOU driving it. But the kids are pretty intent on us using it. So I will have to buck up. Watch over us. (& your boat) I love & miss you so so much!!

I pray continually for a little bit of peace in our hearts. I also pray for the families of the other men & children who died in the accident close to the spot where you left us for Heaven. Sometimes, I forget that your family aren't the only ones who have lost a loved one. 2 men & a child died as a result of the accident at where the 4-lane meets the 2-lane on Hwy 67. And the man who died in the accident in front of the funeral home the night of visitation. There are just so many many more. God is taking sooo many Home. I've searched my bible, my mind, & every prophecy book you have, honey. The only answer I can come up with is that surely God is readying His army to take us all Home. I'm ready. I want everyone to be. Please help us to be bold like you and bring everyone's heart to Jesus.

your wife

Jace, I need you so much I can't stand it anymore. I thought that you moving to Heaven would be the worst thing we would ever have to endure. I think maybe I was wrong. Life is just getting harder, not easier. This whole mess is tearing what's left of my heart out. And Kyle's. He is so upset. There was a voice mail on his phone that was very unkind. Thank goodness I got to his phone first. Now if I can just keep him off of the websites. You were right, Honey, 13 is a very hard age. He has a temper like yours. I know others are hurting and when this first happened I thought we would be there to help each other through this. I tried at the hospital and during the funeral process but was pushed away. I lost part of my senses during that time. I have a lot of black spots in my memory. If I hurt anyones feelings, I am very sorry. I don't understand. We have loved each other for 11 years. We have tried to share that love with everyone we could. I can't count on one hand the number of people that we have shared our home with when they needed a place. And we were both glad to do it. We never wanted to be separated from anyone, (we invited everyone in) but we all grow up and move on with our married lives. Aren't we supposed to cleave to our spouse? Finally you said that we couldn't save the world. We had to worry about our family instead.

I am very thankful for your love. Honey, I'm thankful for every second of our lives together. Even with all the extra chaos we let come into our home, (& the chaos now) I don't regret a single second. I love all of our family that stayed with us and they know they are blessed to have that special time with you. Just like the kids & I are. If we all just settle down and open our hearts a little more, God WILL take care of it. We are all only human with human emotions. I, personally, am going to try to be more like you. Let it roll off of my back and pray. You always said that we can't change what other people say, feel, think, or do. Just ourselves. Honey, I ask all the time, but would you ask God to keep His arm around my shoulders and His hand firmly over my mouth for me too. I wish everyone had known the Jason that I know. I love you!!!

Rose

Jason, it hurts too bad. Too much to deal with last night & today. Sorry I haven't been able to let everything roll off my back, like you always say to do. If you were here, you sure wouldn't either. This I know. I'm on my knees constantly. I know the Lord will keep our family safe. We are stronger in our faith that what people realize. I opened your bible tonight. Hebrews 3:13 was underlined. {And again, I will put my trust in him. And again, Behold I and the children which God hath given me.} Your bible brings me some peace. Found this picture today. I really miss those days, and every day with you. Miranda is so precious. I miss you and I am so glad that we have had the last 11 years together. I love you!!

Rose

Jace, there are a ton of memories running through my mind, but tonight I'm just too sad to write them. I hope no one else ever has to feel what it's like to lose their soul mate. God brought us together, I don't understand why we have to be apart for now. Baby Ty sat on my lap and we talked about you for a long time tonight. I think its really starting to sink in for him. I wish I had known you when we were children, although I am 4 and 1/2 years older than you. Mom says Ty is just like you when you were little. Honey, your Mom & Dad really miss you. My heart is terribly sad for them both. I pray for them every day. And your sister and brother (& their children) who are brokenhearted as well. I also pray for all of your aunts, uncles, grandparents, cousins, & friends who love you so much. You are missed by so very many.

I love you, sweetie and I miss you so very very much.

Your Wife Forever

Sweetie,

I still get lost in your eyes, especially this picture. You have the sweetest lips. There are so very many memories. What I wouldn't give for the kids to hear you say "I love you!" one more time. I miss every little thing about you. I miss the sweet way you always said my name and the way you held me in your arms. The way you kissed me. I even want to hear you snore. Just to hold your hand while we fall asleep. I'll love you until the day I die. I'll still love you when I join you in Heaven too. I miss you so much!!

I Love You Murray!!!!!!

Rose

Jace, I will never forget the day this picture was taken. You were so excited. You said you could finally see the light at the end of the tunnel. That Nursing school is winding down. Oh my gosh, you were already worried about boards. You said you were nervous, but anxious for us to be alone together when we went to take them. We were already getting our study guides together to prepare for boards. I still think you should be here studying. Helping others was your life. You wanted so bad to get your NP. I have total complete faith in you, babe. You would've done great!!! I'm really praying for your classmates. Sometimes, I get really upset about you being in school so much. School took you away from us so much. Even though you were in the bedroom studying. You barely had time for your kids, much less anything else. I am so glad you always took time out to eat dinner with us and say prayers together as a family at bedtime. I don't know what to say to the kids when they are mad because you can't do something with them. They say that you told them "later", and now that later will never happen here on earth. We all just thought there would be so much more time after school got out. How do I deal with their anger? I tell them you still love them very much, you just really wanted to be a Nurse and help people.

Remember how proud you were to get your Medic liscense. Joplin, MO will always be a special place. I'm so very proud of you!! You were a great provider and leader for our family. I'll forever be grateful. I'm also thankful that you let me stay home with the kids. Especially since Ty does not want to ride the bus. Who can blame him. We swore he would never ride that bus again, & he won't!!

I loved the afternoons after school when you would bring me lunch and we would have the afternoon alone together. Wow!! We were really blessed!! I could go on forever, but we have sunday school early in the morning. I just wanted to share this picture with everyone. I really want to put this picture on your little brothers web page, but I posted your handwritten notes from Proverbs and it has been deleted, so I think that maybe John doesn't want anything on there from us. I won't post it, but I will give one to Mom & Dad to make sure everyone can see it. The other picture is really awesome, but this one is my favorite. Because this is how you always smiled at me. I miss you so much that I don't know how to put it into words!!

I love you baby!!!

Rose

POPCORN FRIDAY!!! Man, we miss you. Remember when we all went and popped & bagged all the popcorn for all of 1st grade this last December. It was so much fun. You, me, Clarissa, and my Mom popped what seemed like a million bags of popcorn. Miranda was so proud. She told everyone at the movie that her Dad & Mom made the popcorn. The other day she listed almost every time you were at her school for her. You have always been so supportive for all of the kids. We have been blessed.

I'm very happy for you to be in Heaven, but I've been bummin about the future. Every school function you won't be at. The answers you would have given your sons for their problems. Chasing off boys who aren't good enough for your daughters. 4 graduations. Walking Marissa & Miranda down the aisle. Standing up with Kyle & Tyler when they find their special someone. I pray every day that each one of the kids will find someone just as wonderful as their Daddy is. Honey, Christie & I will do our best, but your shoes can never be filled.

We all love & miss you so much.

Rose

Jason, I was reading your bible tonight and found some great verses marked. I love to read your bible. It makes me still feel close to you. I treasure your bible most out of all of your things. Remember us studying these verses together. It is Psalm 145.

1 I will extol thee, my God, O king; and I will bless thy name forever and ever.

2 Every day I will bless thee; and I will praise thy name for ever and ever.

3 Great is the Lord, and greatly to be praised; and his greatness is unsearchable

5 I will speak of the glorious honour of thy majesty, and of thy wonderful works.

I remember how we discussed that praising God should always be at the forefront of our lives. Our Lord surely is Great. I'm sure your crown is filled with many jewels. You spent so much of your time here on earth ministering to people. I am so blessed to have your love and the love of God.

I love you so very much!!!

Clarissa

Wow i fully agree with Rose, life really is crazy down here Jason! People have changed so much its scary, you dont know who to trust anymore or who you even really know anymore! You would think in a time like this people would be pulling together as a family and not apart! This is when we need eachother the most and its just not happening that way! If you where here i know you would solve everything and certain things wouldn't be said and people wouldn't be doing the things they are doing! But i do know that i will be here for rose and the kids forever and nothing is going to change that!

Boy i remember everytime Bobby and I came home and walked in your door you was so excited to see us! Its going to suck not having you there to welcome us anymore and no more wonderful and peaceful boat rides anymore! Im so glad that the last time we where home this past summer that i made you take me out on the boat and we all got out and jumped in the river and just floated! Remember me having some serious issues getting back in the boat lol you just laughed at me cause i couldn't get back in! you had to get in before me so that the boat would be level! Gosh you knew so much about that river and i will cherish those times that we had at the river cause ya know it will never be the same without you EVER! Jason, Rose misses you so much and she has so much on her plate right now, she is doing better than she thinks she is mainly cause she has to be strong for the kids and they miss you so much too and i promise that i will always talk about you to them to help keep your memory alive! Memories last FOREVER!! I wish we could have you instead of the memories but that wasn't Gods plan and as bad as that really sucks we have to except the fact that God needed you up there! I also remember our countless hours of talking about the future and what i wanted to do and i remember telling you before i graduated that i wanted to be a nurse and boy you talked about that for hours with me about what i would need to do and the things that come along with it!! We talked about finances cause you didn't want me and bobby getting in to deep to fast, you where like a financial advisor lol! And i appreciated every bit of advice that you gave to us! I also remember you telling me one time that you knew how much Rose did and that you appreciated her for that and that you knew you could be mean at times but its only cause you where worried about school and you told me how much you loved her and that everything would be different once you got out of school! ( she loves hearing that story, thats why i wrote it!) Well i don't want to write everything in this one memory but i have plenty more!! I love you Jason more than every and miss you so very much!

Rose

Just thinkin about you. Remember when we helped put new linoleum down in Mom & Dad's kitchen. We had only been married about a year. The whole family was there. It took you men forever to figure out the exact perfect way that it needed to be done. But once we got started it went really well. It was so much fun. You pulled me around by my feet on the floor to help it seal. I'll never forget the first time I met everyone at your Mom & Dad's house. Everyone was really cool. I miss those times. Remember when you, JB, & Uncle Kevin put in our dishwasher. We all quit fighting over who had to wash the dishes. Wow, that was an adventure. Or building the new porch. Perfection was so important. That truly was an adventure. Man, I'm gonna miss running over to Uncle Kevin & Aunt Vicky's just because a lawn mower broke down and you needed to watch Kev fix it. The surround sound you got for Christmas and couldn't figure out. Kevin came right over, you almost had it fixed, but then ya'll had to watch TV together to make sure it was just right. I know I'm writing on here a lot, but I love remembering. I Love You Jason!!

Rose Murray

I have found these verses handwritten many times in Jason's personal things. Some my most treasured memories of Jason are talking with him about God's word. I just wanted to share them with everyone who loves Jason. It's chapter 3 in the book of Proverbs if it can't be seen very well.

Jason, I love you so very much.

Rose Murray

Hey sweetie, constantly thinking of you. Life is Crazy. I can't wait to be with you in Heaven. I went to the cemetery this morning after I dropped the kids off at school. I miss you. Tyler drew me a picture of us at school today. It is precious.

I am going through some of our sentimental things and this card was at the top of our hopechest. I marked out some of the intimate stuff. It's too personal. It was from Valentine's day last year. You had just went back to Nursing school after break. You said you wanted me to know how much you hated being away from home. You said the kids & I were the most important things in your world (besides God, obviously). Honey, I'll never forget that Valentine's night. Or any night we spent together. I am so glad that we had so many wonderful times together. The Lord is still the most important thing in our lives. HE will always remain the Ruler of our Lives.

I love you baby,

Rose

"My Wish"

I hope that the days come easy and the moments pass slow,
And each road leads you where you want to go,
And if you're faced with a choice, and you have to choose,
I hope you choose the one that means the most to you.
And if one door opens to another door closed,
I hope you keep on walkin' till you find the window,
If it's cold outside, show the world the warmth of your smile,

But more than anything, more than anything,
My wish, for you, is that this life becomes all that you want it to,
Your dreams stay big, and your worries stay small,
You never need to carry more than you can hold,
And while you're out there getting where you're getting to,
I hope you know somebody loves you, and wants the same things too,
Yeah, this, is my wish.

I hope you never look back, but ya never forget,
All the ones who love you, in the place you left,
I hope you always forgive, and you never regret,
And you help somebody every chance you get,
Oh, you find God's grace, in every mistake,
And you always give more than you take.

But more than anything, yeah, and more than anything,
My wish, for you, is that this life becomes all that you want it to,
Your dreams stay big, and your worries stay small,
You never need to carry more than you can hold,

And while you're out there getting where you're getting to,
I hope you know somebody loves you, and wants the same things too,
Yeah, this, is my wish.

This is my wish
I hope you know somebody loves you
May all your dreams stay big

Jason's other half

Just wanted to tell you I love you. Life is just crazy without you here. I'm praying every day for God to intervene in our lives and calm things down. I will do my very best to keep a Christian heart like yours.

Honey, I just miss you so much. I miss all the times you held me and whispered sweet nothings in my ear. I miss the way you love to kiss my neck. I miss all the sweet secrets we shared. I miss praying with you. I miss waking up next to you every day and holding you as you fell asleep on Saturdays & Sundays. You always said you could sleep better if I were laying on your shoulder. I will always remember every second of every day we shared. We've never been away from each other this long. 45 days. It feels like yesterday, other times I'm still in denial.

The time we spent together on that Tuesday night is priceless, and I'm so thankful for the way you woke me up that Wednesday morning. And I will never forget the way you held me at the car and the sweet hug and your loving kisses. It's the only way I get to sleep at night. Just remembering our love and the uncountable times we held each other. Honey, it's late and I think maybe I have wore myself out enough to go to bed. I'm going to think of one of our most special memories together as I fall asleep and then that will be in my dreams as I sleep. I'll ask God to tell you which one. We can remember it together. I feel so close to you when I am praying. Please watch over our family, keep us strong in the faith, and banish the devil from our lives.

Sweetie, I Love You!!

Your faithful wife,

Rose

Rose

Aunt Juley gave us this poem when we married. She is sooo smart. We are blessed that we have always included God in our marriage. I just want to (one more time) thank God (and Mom & Dad) for bringing Jason into this world. Our time together is Priceless. I can't wait until we get to be together again.

Thank You to Mom & Dad Murray

& Thank You to God

Deanna

Back in January I got a new phone. It's one of those fancy ones that you can have a picture of the person show up when they call. So everyone got to be a guinea pig that night. We all laughed over some of the pic`s I got but Jason was the only one not to be shy about it.

Miss ya Jason

Rose

Hey babe, I know I just wrote a memory about our wedding, but I was also thinking about our 10 year anniversary last year. We got each other new wedding rings. Mine came in early and you hid it from me. You had gone back to wearing your original one because you were so afraid that you would mess yours up at work. I wear the one you wore on your finger on a chain around my neck. Close to my heart. I never take it off. Someday, when I move to Heaven with you, we will have a ring symbolizing our love to give to each of our children.

You surprised me and made all the plans last year. It was really exciting to see what you had in store for me. We stayed at the Cabin of Dreams, (A bed & breakfast in Branson) Remember the Ray Stevens show we saw. You lauged so very hard. We really wanted to take our Mama's to see him someday. We went to that time share thing that you said was such a crock. We went to Peace Frog, Bass Pro (we got the coolest stuff for the boat), and then your favorite place to eat. Red Lobster. After those places we spent the rest of our time at the cabin. Remember the hammock & the hot tub. It was so peaceful. We stayed up for hours talking about our dreams for our future. We promised each other not to ever lose sight of our goals. We truly believe that together we can accomplish anything. Jason, I have always had complete utter faith in you. It was wonderful to be just the two of us. On our way home we went to our spot on Current River and watched the river leaning against our special tree. You said that you wanted the weekend to last forever. It was the best anniversary ever. I'll never forget it. Thank you, Jason, for every second of the last 11 years. I will forever be grateful to the Lord for bringing us together and giving us this time.

I Love You!!

Rose Murray

Happy Anniversary. Although there is nothing happy about it this year. My heart is just broken. I can't wait till the Lord takes me Home. I want to be with you so bad.

I'll never forget the day we married. Remember when we used to say that other than the days that our children were born, that March 13, 1996 was the happiest day of our lives. I was so excited to marry you. Just in December you were talking about how you wanted to renew our vows on our 20th anniversary at the river. Just 9 more years. That would have been so cool.

When I walked down the aisle of our church in Fisk, all I could see was you staring at me. Your face filled with love. The amount of love you have shown me is amazing. The kids were so excited that day. Except for when Kyle cried for Christie(lol). Boy, he sure does love her. They both ran down the aisle to meet you. I wanted to run to you too. I still do. I am so thankful for the unconditional love that you have shown for Kyle. I will always show that same unconditional love for Marissa. Remember when we said special vows in our own little ceremony at home with the kids.

You were so very handsome. You are the most handsome man I have ever seen. I am so proud that you chose me. We played Endless Love and Heaven Sent Me You. Oh, how many times we have said we are blessed because God led us to each other. It was so important that we signed the Family Bible in our ceremony. There really are 3 in this marriage. God, You, & I. Sweetie, I am totally devoted to 3 things in this life. God, You, & Our Children. Thank you for always including God in our marriage and our life.

I really miss taking care of you. Honey, you will find me camped out at the cemetery today. I'm going to run by the river too. Other than on my knees praying, or laying on your pillow on your side of the bed, those are the places where I feel closest to you. I will celebrate every anniversary there until God allows us to be together again. Which needs to be soon, because the grief is unbearable.

You are so precious in my heart,

With all my love forever,

Proud to be your wife,

Can't wait to be with you again,

You will always have my heart,

I LOVE YOU!!!!!!!!!!

Your Devoted Wife,

Rose

Remember the time for John Brian's birthday that we went to the Bring-Your-Own-Beer-Bar. It, was Jason, me, John Brian, Uncle Kevin, Aunt Vicky and someone else. (I can't remember who) The floors were gravel. And they had port-a-potties. I think everyone in the place took a swig of Kevin's drink. Right out of his bottle. I don't think Kevin took another drink and I know Jason was totally grossed out. He didn't offer to share his. Some of those people were scary looking. It took us forever to get out of the parking lot and most of us were rollin on the ground laughing the rest of the night. Jason sure hee-hawed all night. A lot of other stuff happened that night too. It was sooo funny. We sure have shared some of the funniest things in life. Honey, I love and miss you so very much.

Rose

Hey sweetie, I hate making memories without you here to make them with me.

I went to the cemetery the other day. Ty & Nathan went with me. We cleaned all the flowers off. Nate helped me rake it and make it all pretty. It had been raining. (I know how you feel about the rain.) Tyler looked for all the Murray's there. He really likes looking at the stones. Honey, I go all the time but man this just sucks. I want you to come home so bad, I can't hardly stand it. Miranda & Ty take balloons all the time just to give to you. They are always asking if we can go. I tell them yes. I hope it's the right decision. Man, I wish you were here.

I love you!!!!

Tyler (by Mommy)

This memory is for baby Ty. Since he's too little I'm gonna remember for him.

Jason, Tyler, Gramma Ida and I went to Fort Leonard Wood to get Gramma's ID card renewed. Up around Houston there had been an ice storm. Tyler is a firm believer in Super Heros. He decided that we were actually in ICELAND. He was totally fascinated by the ice. Jason pulled over on the side of the road and we all took pictures with our cell phones. When we got to the base, Gramma and I went inside to get her ID, but Jason and Tyler played outside forever. When they finally came in, they told us that it truly was ICELAND and Daddy was ICEMAN and Tyler was ICEBOY. We had to call them that the whole way home.

When Jason moved to Heaven, Tyler told me that his Daddy is a Super Hero flying in Heaven watching over everything. Out of the mouths of babes. Tyler is the spittin image of his Daddy and acts just like him. I'm so very glad.

John Brian

Ok here we go. Here is a memory that will always stay in my head. Me and my brother Jason used to everytiime we went anywhere together we would sometime in the trip start singing a song called wondering eyes by ronnie Mcdowell. Rose used to get so mad at us and we would just eat it up. Later when i got with my wife, and she would go with us on our little trips, you guessed it we would still sing the song and she would join Rose in getting mad at us. But in all reality I dont think they were really to mad about it, it was just kind of a running joke because we all know that all of our hearts really did stay at home

Rosina

Man I don't even know where to start. I have so many wonderful memories of Jace and they are all good and most funny. Jason had the most awesome personality and sense of humor. Jason and I worked together in the ER at Poplar Bluff but we were friends too. Not just co-workers. Summer before last Jace came to work and we were working in the same pod and we got to talking about losing weight and he said he knew he needed too and then he told me this story. He loved his boat and he told me that the weekend before he had taken his boat to the river by himself. He said he started to go upriver and couldn't get his boat to plane out so he stopped and worked on the motor and couldn't find anything wrong so he started motoring again and he said it took him like three minutes to get the boat to plane out because of him being the only one in it. Man did we have a good laugh about that. It may not seem funny to those of you reading it but if you knew Jace and how he told a story you will laugh! Then him, Brad, and Harwood started this diet competition and I told Jace how to beat them. He was like a brother to me. One night I asked him how school was going and I told him how to study by himself. I said, "Jace you got to make yourself flash cards cause then you can't read down and cheat yourself." A couple weeks later I asked him again how school was doing and he said he had aced his last test after trying the flash card trick. He was so proud. The night Harwood asked me if I could come help Jace suction a patient and wound up deserting my pod and working with Jace for two and half hours suctioning this man. There are not words enough in the English language or any other to say what a wonderful person he was. He was so proud of his family and to be in the profession that he was in. He loved Rose and his children so much. We spent hours talking about our spouses and children and Jace listened with his whole heart and cared about people. Rose, I cannot even imagine the pain you are in. I want you to know that you and your children are so special in my life and heart and please never forget that I am ALWAYS only a phone call away. You letting Kyle call me Mom #2 and letting him spend time with Taylor-Pearl and me means so much to me. I love all of you with all my heart and soul. Tell Tyler I love him to the top of God's chimney and back too!!! Rose, you will always have a little Jace running around cause that boy sure looks like his daddy. I love you all and I will NEVER forget Jason.

Rose

Well, honey, I missed Marissa's band concert tonight. I'm sorry, I wanted to go so bad. I talked to her though. Her Mom taped it for me. She said all went well. She said that your Mom & Dad, & JB & his family went. I'm really glad that they got to go. Christie is so good to share her with all of us. The little kids are still really sick or I would have been there too.

Rissa gets to go with us to Mom's for dinner on Sunday, and then we are having a girls night after Michael & Amanda's wedding next Saturday. Mom is spending the night too. I'm really looking forward to it.

I love you!!

Jennifer

Rose,

You and Jason are a couple of people I can say that has known Tim and I forever and a day. We saw each other through the ups and downs of life. I remember liking you instantly from the minute we met. Jason was sooooo nervous about your first date; guess mine and Tim's love advice really worked!! The one memorie that sticks in my mind was the time at the movies when I was pregnant with Josh. I wanted popcorn and Tim wouldn't get it for me (worried about the salt). Rose, you said to him, "Pregnant women are emotional, so you should get her want she wants." If he hadn't started moving, I think Jason was gonna. Everytime we came over to that trailer on M hwy, you guys always took care of me.

Now I know that my kids have another angel in heaven to watch over them.

Love

Jennifer Hood

Rose

Hey honey. The kids are all in bed sound asleep. This is when I miss you most. When it was just you & me. Lately we were studying. I saw Michael the other day. I think he's doing well in school. He will do you proud.

The memory I want to share goes way back. Back to the trailer on M highway. Wow, remember that place. Waffles and Pebbles. When Waffles always got into the trash bag. (we were too cheap to buy a can lol) Then one time he was diggin in there and you picked up the bag with him in there and shook it all around. That dog was so messed up after that, but he never got in the trash again. Remember Neighbor. They were so cool. We had lots of great times with them at the picnic table. I know JB had lots of cool times with Neighbor.

I remember how you and JB would make fun of the weird guy who would do karate on his tree. You guys were so loud. Every time I tried to shush you, you guys just got louder. It was hilarious.

Remember the time that I went to the grocery store and when I came home all the windows were open. JB & Josh Miller were standing near the front of the trailer lookin all weird. When I went in you were in the front room just shaking your head. You said, "What are we going to do with those boys?", "Now, Rose, don't get too mad, they said it was an accident." I went in the front bedroom, (JAIL) and THEY HAD CAUGHT THE BED ON FIRE. It was out by then, but the mattress was black and soaking wet. I was so mad, and all JB & Josh did was laugh. It didn't take them long before I was laughing too. Jason thought they were nuts.

One more, remember the time the water heater blew? We honestly thought that the house was on fire. JB & Jason got the kids out of the house. I was so glad they were there. It was crazy. Or the time that I accidentally locked the keys in the car. While it was running. Jason was already at work and, well, he only had the one key I was using. I had to call a locksmith who charged me $80.00. You were so mad at me. He made me give him a massage every night for a month to make up for it. He liked that part.

We lived close enough that Christie used to come over all the time. She was pregnant with Megan and we would go shopping together. I was, and still am glad that we all get along so well. You guys always put Rissa first. She is a faithful christian woman and a great Mom to her.

Remember the birthday party that we had for Kyle. You put his first bike together. He always called you Steppy. Except for when you were his Coacher in soccerball. There was that time that we went to Cape Girardeau to Marissa's favorite store. We were trying to find somewhere to eat in a hurry because she was STARVIN and did not want McDonalds. So we let her choose. You said she could choose because she was the sweetest little girl in the world. I'll never forget it.

Sweetie, I miss you so much. It's so hard for me to realize, or to accept, that you aren't ever going to walk through our front door again. I keep looking for you. If only I could feel your arms around me again.

I love you!!!

Clarissa

You know I really thought that for me I would be ok by now but you know, im really not! I feel really guilty for never making you take a picture with me and that everyone else has one with you but me! That hurts alot cause I have no pictures of you and me just the memories. I remember the day Bobby and I got married, the most important day of my life and im so glad that you was there! And that I was able to have you in it! That meant alot to bobby and i. During the reception we where told to hurry cause we had a surprise coming at 6, so when that time came you and Rose made us close our eyes to walk outside and OH MY GOODNESS IT WAS A LIMO!!!! You and Rose had gotten us a limo, how awesome was that! We had never been in one before, we where so surprised and shocked. We loved it! You followed us to the Bluff in mom and dads car so that we would have a ride to Dexter! When we got there we got out of the car and you where standing there with this proud look on your face and hugged me sooooo big and told me congratulations, and at that moment i knew you where proud of bobby and I and how far we had come! I will never forget that! And bobby and i promise to continue to make you proud! Jason we are all going to miss those big bear hugs and thank god dad hugs like that too!! I thank god everyday that we got as close as we did! I miss you so much and wish i could have told you that i love you one last time! There is a piece of our hearts missing now and it hurts! I don't know if it will ever get better! With lots of praying, in time it will! I love you so much Jason and miss you even more!!

Rose

I had many more memories on this page, BUT someone figured out my password (it was pretty obvious) and deleted them. I never meant to hurt anyones feelings. But, come on guys, this is just wrong. Jason truly deserves better than this. We were together 11 years and our time together has many memories. The past 11 years cannot be erased, no matter how much some people would like them to be. Jason is my husband and every single person reading this knows how much Jason and I love each other. I'm tired of all this hatefulness. It's time to grow up. If it really bothers you that much, pick up the phone and give me a call. Or, just come see me, we can work this out face to face. Obviously, we have a problem that needs to be fixed.

Thanks,

Rose

Rose

One of my greatest memories of Jason and his family is when we lived near Mom & Dad in Fisk. John Brian, (he was JB then) lived with us. Jason was working nights in the ICU at Doctors Hospital, and like we tended to do, JB and I were hanging out talking. It was really late and we were getting ready to go to sleep. When out of nowhere, he said that he thought that he was ready to give his heart to the Lord. I, of course, freaked out and didn't know what to say. So...we called Dad and JB talked to him for a really long time. I was so proud of JB that night. I called Jace at work to tell him and he teared up on the phone. I will never forget the joy in Jason's voice that night. When Kyle was wavering on the verge of being saved, we shared this story with him. I honestly think that it helped him make up his mind. He was so glad to be in the same club as his Uncle and his Dad. So thank you to Jason & JB both for helping me raise my little boy into a good person.

I will always remember and miss the wonderful times when I was a part of the trio. I am truly sad that it is over.

Rose

Wow, sweetie. I can't believe that it has been 33 days since the Lord took you home.

Remember when we used to talk about how things would be if anything ever happened to either of us. How death brings out the oddest things in people. Of course, we always talked as if we would be much older. Well, things aren't turning out the way you thought they would.

Honey, I'm not going to write a whole lot more of our special memories on this website, I'll save them for my journal. Things are crazy down here and I hope you can only see the good things from heaven.

From the day we stood before God and our family and friends, my heart has been true to you and always will be. Irregardless of what others may think.

I will forever love you!!!!

Rose

Wow we had a great service at church today. I cried through most of it, but it was still great. Remember when we first moved to Doniphan. We drove to Fisk to church for a couple of years, then you decided that our children should be more involved in youth church with their classmates. We tried out several churches and then at Emmanuel, we felt right at home. Everyone was so welcoming. The day that we went to the front and asked to join the church was a great day for our family.

Even though you didn't get to go on Sunday during the school year, you sure were faithful about taking Kyle on Wednesdays. I'll never forget the Sundays that we were able to go as a family.

The Lord sure has blessed us.

Clarissa (Ol' Crappy)

My Cousin

People never knew just how much he meant to me and you
They knew him by name, but it's still not the same

His eyes so bright, his smile so wide
We always let him know we were right there by his side

Now he's gone from me and you
Now we have no reason to be blue

We loved him, he loved us
And we have to try not to fuss

He said goodbye and gave you a kiss
Now all we can do is reminis

Why does God take the best to love
Up to that great big world up above?

His memory will never leave
His kind and gentle smile will always be seen

Never forget him, never let him leave your mind
Tell him you love him, just one more time.
I LOVE YOU AND MISS YOU JASON!!!

Clarissa

Ya know one of my funniest memories with Jason is when i came home one day with my first tattoo! Jason thought it was the neatest thing and talked about how he wanted to get one that had something to do with the paramedic symbol, and he asked me if it hurt and i said not to much and i said "hey why don't you go and get yours and he said nah maybe later!" well i called him a sissy for the longest time and bugged him about it, talk about pressure lol! well then dad got one and oh then he decided that he was finally going to get one! So Rose, Jason, dad and myself all went to cape that day to the tattoo place and it was funny cause as soon as we got there we seen a girl pass out so Jason thought he might have to work his magic on her but she was ok! but he didn't know what he wanted cause he had changed his mind about the paramedic thing so we looked though the books and we found one for him it was a starburst and he liked it so thats the one he got and you know he took it like a champ it was so funny to sit there and look at the facial expressions he had on his face! lol i kept asking him if he was ok and he would just nod his head and say yeah! and Rose got 2 tattoos that day too, it was just a great day that we had together and he was so scared to show his dad and i made fun of him cause he was like a little kid but he finally got brave about that too!! And you know it was the neatest tat, we all love it and Jason was very proud of it! Man stuff like this you just can never forget, the times were so great Jason and i will keep remembering you and writing memories and i think that you are very proud of this page and nothing but trueness comes from my heart when i am writing about you and no one is going to tell me otherwise cause you know that i love you!

Rose

Wow. What a day. Today was my first time to go to Jason's favorite place in the world. Our little piece of Heaven on earth. Current River. I have a ton of memories of us on Current River. Jason was so very proud when we got our boat. I remember right after we got it, he would be waiting at the back door of the bank at 5:00 exactly. That was our favorite time to go. We didn't have much time before we had to pick up the kids, but we would sneak away and just enjoy ourselves. One time we went way upriver and were floating back. Reveling in God's glory. We saw the biggest beaver you have ever seen. He was smack in the middle of the river. We watched him swim all the way across. Jason was so excited. It was the coolest thing. We would always wonder if there were more fish in the river than turtles. (He voted for fish, I always voted for turtles.)

When Jason was on the river, he was more at ease and happier than anywhere else in the world. The other day, out of nowhere, Tyler asked me if I could drive a boat. Man, I'm scared, but I am going to learn everything about it this summer. We are lucky that Kyle and Jason have spent so much time together driving the boat. (and that Kyle remembers all that stuff)

Remember that time the boys were going to jump off the rock and we saw that huge fish. (if it was a fish, it was HUGE) We wouldn't let the boys jump. That time. Jason would always wait until I had my back turned and let Kyle jump anyway. My men are too brave. Our time at the river will never be the same. It just doesn't feel right without Jace.

Clarissa

Wow Rose the blowing of the nose is something i always made fun of him about!! And boy do we wish we could hear it now! Well one of the memories i have come to mind is when we were all at Jeannies for thanksgiving and we all said what we were thankful for and it seemed like we where just all a big happy family but who knows anymore, that was one of them but the other is when Jason fell asleep in the chair and i put jadens duck on his head and B on his arm and babies and purses around him and he woke up wondering what the heck was going on! lol that was so funny and a few minutes later he was out again so Bobby put some cool whip on his nose and he woke up again, took his finger and wiped it off, looked at it for a minute and then oh my gosh he put it in his mouth and licked it off!! lol that was so funny we all laughed at him! And you know the great thing was that no one argued that day everyone was great we all had a blast and for once we where ALL just together again! Its different now cause the one person that tried to hold us all together the most is gone! Lord what are we all going to do without him? I wish you could tell me! Who am i going to call when jaden is sick? You where the one person besides mom that i would call! Wow i just dont even know man but i do know that i miss you very much and will forever remember you and keep you in my heart! I cant wait for the day that we will all be together in heaven and happy! And you know im going to take dexter just like you wanted me to cause now we are in our new house and i promise to take care of him! And i also promise to take care of Rose and the kids! You are very special to me Jason and i love you very much!

Rose

My best memory today is when Jason holds me. I really miss his arms around me. Even in my worst nightmares, I never imagined my heart could hurt so bad. It seems like I miss the little things the most. Like rubbing his hair in the morning while he fell asleep after he came home from a long shift, or as we said our prayers and went to sleep at night. I miss the way he always had to be touching me to fall asleep. I miss the way he blows his nose. (One nostril at a time). Man, I even miss the blasted snoring.

My best memory after Jason moved to heaven is pretty silly. He slept every Saturday morning at our best friends Kim & Mike Allen's house. He always bragged about breakfast being on the table waiting for him when he woke up. When I went over there the week after, his bed still smelled like him. (no children had nightmares and peed in that bed) It was wonderful to lay in his essence. After my cry, as I was leaving the room, Mike said "Hey Rose, Jason left a pair of dirty socks on the floor." (That's why I can't ever find his socks, I think Mike confiscates them.) I actually picked up those socks and buried my face in them. What has the world come to when I am actually wanting to smell Jason's dirty socks?!?!?!?

Jason, I know you are happy in Heaven, and I am so very happy for you, but man this really sucks not to have you home. I always tell you that you are my strength. I don't feel very strong anymore. Some things are going crazy. I don't know how to deal with it. I'm just going to do what you always say. Give it to the Lord, He'll take care of it. Please send me answers from Heaven.

I love you man,

Rose

Like Clarissa said, there are so many memories, we could fill many pages. But I wanted to say the memories our family will miss the most, are the countless, precious memories our families made together at the river. The two "boat captains" and their boats full of family they carted up and down the river all summer long. Our big breakfast's in the mornings and lazy afternoons together with our families in the sun. It just won't be the same. We will miss you snoring and rocking the cabin. So this is a memory we all decided we would refuse to let go. This summer in your honor we will be planting a tree and the kids are going to make a memorial print stone for you so you will be with us always. Not just in our thoughts and memories but a physical presence in our lives for us to nurture and watch grow. We love you and miss you Jason.

Mike, Kim & Zack

Clarissa

Wow who could forget you and John calling me Crapusta! I hated that but I will forever remember it! And remember the time I broke the steps that you and dad worked so hard to build LOL you had to go and fix it and you wasn't even mad! Boy did i feel fat! lmao I wish that you would have been able to come to virginia this summer like planned Jason you would have loved it! It just doesn't seem right to say that your gone but we all will keep living for you! I have so many memories but would take up this whole page so i will just keep it like this for a little while!! We love you Jason Murray!!!

Bobby, Clarissa and Jaden

The image features two roses, one smaller and one larger, positioned in the upper right quadrant. They are set against a textured, olive-green background that resembles aged paper or parchment. The roses are rendered in a light, almost ethereal tone, blending with the background. The overall mood is nostalgic and sentimental.

Jason was born May 16, 1974 to John & Donna Murray. He has a sister, Jeannie, and a brother, John Brian. Jason spent many wonderful years living at home with his parents. In 1993 he married Christie. That union gave us all an awesome daughter, Marissa. My life with Jason began on November 30, 1995. We were set up on a blind date. Jason is my soul mate. We knew from the very first date that God brought us together. We are so blessed to know Donnie & Debbie who set us up on that blind date. I will forever be grateful!!! Jason loves Kyle as if he were his very own, and wouldn't ever let anyone say any different. God blessed Kyle with a wonderful role model in his Steppy. Our next miracles are Miranda & Tyler. Miranda thinks her daddy hung the moon & Tyler is Jason made over. Jason is soooo proud of all 4 of his children!!!!

Thank you, Lord, for all of 5 of my miracles!!!! JASON, KYLE, MARISSA, MIRANDA, & TYLER !!!!!!!!!!!!!!!
